Tenth Edition

S. W. RAVELEY, PRINTER

INTRODUCTION.

We take pleasure in presenting to our patrons this, the Tenth Edition of our Catalogue and Price List.

We have used every effort and spared no pains to make it more complete than any of the previous editions, but in such a business as ours, with such a multiplicity of detail, some omissions are bound to occur in compiling a catalogue.

Any article that is not mentioned in this book, if it come at all within the scope of our business, we will supply, or send any information regarding it that may be desired.

This catalogue is intended only for non-residents of San Francisco, and to such we would state that our Order Department is one of the most complete on the Pacific Coast.

By ordering by letter through this catalogue, the same care and attention is shown in filling these orders as if the goods were being purchased over the counter in person, and all packages are sent off by the earliest mail or express.

By observing a few general rules to be found on the next page, our patrons will facilitate our efforts and avoid any delay that might otherwise occur.

Trusting that our efforts in the future may merit the approbation of our patrons and thereby insure a continuance of their kind patronage,

We are, respectfully,

NEWMAN & LEVINSON.

Instructions in Sending Orders.

In sending an order do not neglect to enclose sample, and try to be as explicit as possible regarding quantity, quality, color, size, design, etc. Always sign the name plainly, giving in full the Post Office address.

As we may be out of an article at times when ordered, kindly state whether it should be the exact thing, or the nearest, which may often avoid detention produced by making inquiries.

We would respectfully notify our patrons that we will, at any time, on receipt of order, procure any article outside of our branch of business.

The sending of goods C. O. D. is no particular advantage to customers, as it costs them in addition for the return of the money collected. We would, therefore, advise them, in order to save the extra charges, to prepay all articles: still, if preferable, we will forward goods C. O. D. by Express.

Parties returning goods to be exchanged should write their Names on outside of Package, so that we can tell who the sender is, as we often get packages, and not knowing from whom they come, it naturally causes delay.

In ordering please state whether the merchandise ordered should be sent by Express or Mail.

Mail Packages are shipped at the purchaser's risk.

Never enclose any writing whatever in a mail package, for if discovered, full letter rates will be charged. Never enclose coin in a letter unless registered, as they are very often lost, and we are not responsible for any losses occuring through the mail. We would advise our patrons in remitting, to use P. O. Money Orders or Wells, Fargo & Co's Money Orders.

In ordering goods C. O. D., by Express, a remittance, to cover charges, must accompany each order.

As we always fill orders on the same day that they are received, if you do not hear from us within a reasonable time, you may conclude that there has been some delay in transit. Under such circumstances, if you will notify us, we will investigate and endeavor to discover the cause.

As we have no accounts with our patrons in the interior, we can make no distinction; not that we doubt their integrity, but as our orders are so numerous it would only create confusion. We therefore, would state that all goods must be paid for before leaving the house, and all balances will be returned with packages.

All letters must be addressed to the firm, as we will not be responsible for them otherwise.

We will at any time send samples, or answer inquiries relating to any branch of our business.

We prefer that remittances be made to us (when possible) by Express Money Orders, which can be obtained at any office of Wells, Fargo & Co., at the following rates:

From $1 to $5 . . . 5 cents. Over $10 to $20 . . . 10 cents. Over $30 to $40 . . . 15 cents.
Over $5 to $10 . . . 8 cents. Over $20 to $30 . . . 12 cents. Over $40 to $50 . . . 20 cents.

Over $50 proportionately—or by Postoffice Money Order, San Francisco. For small amounts stamps will be received.

DECORATIVE ART ROOMS.

Decorative Art.

The threads our hands in kindness spin
No self-determined plan weaves in;
The shuttle of the unseen powers
Work out a pattern not as ours
JOHN G. WHITTIER.

The sources of information concerning the earliest phases of decorative art among the ancients is wholly historical; but, owing to a wonderful event, we have the most ample information concerning the first century of the Roman Empire, when decorative art was fully developed, without having fallen, at least technically, into the corrupt state which characterized it in the decadence. We refer to the destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum by the eruption of Vesuvius, A. D. 79. The partial resurrection, through excavations began in the last century, has not only filled our museums with countless pictures, but has made us perfectly familiar with the antique household. The exact knowledge thus obtained shows how absolutely it differed from that of to-day, and how completely its plan, furnishing and decoration depended upon the manner of life of its possessor. The social position of the Roman wife was very much higher than that of the Greek; but it was not, by any means, as high as that attained by women in modern civilization.

Pompeiian houses were furnished far richer, and were more gaily decorated, than modern dwellings. The houses of simple citizens were adorned with paintings, artistic and elaborate mosaics, and rare works in marble, such as fountains, statues, and statuettes. The famous "Battle of Alexander," which is both the costliest mosaic and the most beautiful of all antique pictures extant, was found in a private house.

At Vienna, and especially at Paris, it is customary to decorate reception rooms as richly as possible, while the living-rooms and chambers are left unadorned and bare. This is because ornament is only an outside show, a pure conventionality, and not a matter of vital concern and daily enjoyment, or a necessity of culture. At Pompeii, on the contrary, every corner of the house was equally and harmoniously decorated. Ornament found a place in the darkest rooms. No difference was made between the reception rooms and those devoted entirely to family use. The owner adorned his house because he had an innate artistic feeling, and beauty was necessary to his well-being. This explains why all the resources of art were expended upon the interior of an antique house, while the exterior was left comparatively bare.

A modern house should be one whose beauty and effect rest upon a basis of truth. Artistic harmony depends upon two things, color and form. In both there must be unity—a union and blending together of many dissimilar elements. Ordinarily color is of more importance in the decorative appointments of a house than form. Color makes the first and strongest impression. It gives the general tone, and may be used, if not to conceal faults and incongruities of form, at least to divert attention from them. A room may be made to look narrower or broader, lower or higher, by means of color. If we desire to make it grave or cheerful, rare or rich, simple or splendid; if we would impart to it a cosy and attractive or poetic aspect, make it look warm or cool; if we would fashion ourselves a place to dream in, or one fitted for serious meditation, or one suited to social enjoyment—our first and last medium is color. It is a fairy enchantress, who brings good and evil, joy and sunshine, or mourning and melancholy in her train Color is always positive in its effect, and is not to be treated with indifference. It repels and attracts, satisfies and disturbs, raises enjoyment to rapture, or deepens discomfort into horror and ennui. Happily the freedom in choice of colors and shades is so great that the possibilities of working out a rich scale of harmonious hues are almost unlimited.

Although we are to depend mainly upon colored decoration for effect, unity and harmony of form must not be neglected because their absence is less generally observed. By unity of form we do not mean any of the definite historic styles which have been important in the history of decorative art. We may expressly give up any idea of the Greek, the Gothic, the Renaissance, or any other style, and yet insist upon unity. A design, a form of decoration, or a piece of furniture, may have style without belonging to any of the art epochs. Style is the idealization of an object, the harmonious adaptation of form to means and ends—the identification of the object with itself and its idea. A piece of furniture has style when it is exactly what it ought to be; when it is united to the purpose for which it was intended, and has that purpose unmistakably inscribed upon it. From this point of view the simplest and the richest furniture, the humblest and the stateliest dwelling, may alike be full of style.

The discovery of gold in California was not only a signal for daring enterprise and achievment, but also gave a new field for literature and landscape art in the United States. "To the kingdom of the west wind" hied author and artist, and the epic of the settlement of California, of the scaling of the Rocky Mountains, of the glory of the Columbia River, and the stupendous grandeur of the Yellowstone, was pictured on canvas. Taylor and Scott conquered the Pacific slope; Fremont pointed out the pathway over the swelling ranges of the Sierras, and our painters have revealed to us the matchless splendor of a scenery which will arouse increasing astonishment, reverential awe and rapture in the hearts of generations yet to be. In the gratitude we owe to these landscape painters—who dared, discovered and delineated for us the scenery of which we were hitherto the ignorant possessors—criticism is left in abeyance; for the service done the people was a double one, in cultivating their artistic tastes, and informing them of the attractions of a little-known possession.

The art of a nation is the result of a century of growth; its crowning excellence does not come except when maturity and repose offer the occasion for its development. As the heirs of all ages, we have a right to expect that our intellectual activity will demand art expression. The first efforts have naturally been imitative, rather than original. The individuality which finds vent in the utterance of truth under new conditions is not fully reached until youth gives place to the vigorous self-assertion of a manhood conscious of its resources and power. Such we find to have been the case in the rise of the fine arts on this coast. It is too soon to look for a great school of art in San Francisco; but the time has, perhaps, arrived to note some of the preliminary phases of the art age which, we have every reason to believe, is dawning upon us.

The progress made in decorative art is due to the fact that several leading artists have interested themselves in decorative work. The great advances made in decoration since Messrs. Le Farge, Tiffany, Colman and Mrs. Candall Wheeler, of New York, began to interest themselves in it, show the necessity of more than technical training. Decorative Art Societies play no unimportant part among the art associations of the country, both as dispensers of art education—more especially of young women—and as agents for the sale of art needle-work, and similar productions.

San Francisco has, from a semi-barbarous settlement, with the process of time, developed, by successive stages, into one of the wealthiest cities of America; and now, where once stood the towering sandhill and the abject shanty, touched by the magic wand of progression, palaces and majestic residences raise their lofty heads, and in proportion has developed the appreciation of art, literature, music, and all circumstances relating to refinement, showing that the same has, with giant strides, kept pace with the success of its inhabitants. It is not now, however, in the homes alone of the wealthy that we find the tastes of the people mirrored in every corner, but also in the humble cottage of the artisan, as surrounding influences produce like results.

Not alone should the art of embroidery be looked upon as a luxury, but in some instances its knowledge has proven a great advantage; and it might seem an exaggeration to some who have not reflected, when we say, that there are to our positive knowledge several hundred women on this coast who are making a living by teaching it; not only for themselves, as some have families who are supported through their efforts. Many who have once been in affluent circumstances, learned it only to have some occupation wherewith to kill time, little thinking how useful it might be in the dim and uncertain future.

Fashion, that arbiter of taste, rules decorative art as well as everything else. What was the craze two or three years ago, may now be useless and obsolete. Hence it is necessary to keep in touch with such an establishment as ours in order to learn what is new, and not to waste time on work which is out of date.

The importance of instruction in the art of plain and fancy needle-work cannot be over-estimated. A few years since it was difficult to find a good needle woman among young ladies; but, we are happy to say, that in the last few years there has been a positive progression; and in order to assist in this advancement we have, in connection with our establishment, DECORATIVE ART ROOMS, where we have engaged the most competent teachers to superintend, and we are prepared to give lessons in Chenille, Arrasene, Rope Silk and Filo Floss, including Queen Anne, Tapestry and all kinds of French Embroidery, and, in fact, every branch coming under the head of Art Embroidery; we are also prepared to do Designing of every kind, and Stamping, at the shortest notice. The advantages which this offers to our patrons, particularly those who have not an opportunity of coming to the city, are such as cannot be found in any other house on the coast; for a lady can order her material, and by describing, have the design stamped, material of any kind selected in the requisite colors and shades, ready for work, or, if necessary, can have the work commenced, so that she can obtain a full idea of how to complete it.

Our Art Rooms are always open to the public, and we have constantly on exhibition the newest designs in fancy work and embroidery. Any lady from the interior having an hour or two to spare cannot devote that time better than by passing it in our Decorative Art Rooms.

The styles of fancy work being so numerous, we will endeavor to assist our patrons who are not familiar with them by giving a description of the following materials and the purposes for which they are used. We keep a complete assortment of all articles described.

Morris Cloth is all wool diagonal cloth, 54 inches wide, and is used extensively for Roman embroidery, making beautiful Scarfs, Lambrequins, Tidies, etc.

Chamois Skin, tinted and natural, is used as a foundation for fancy work. The surface preserves all the delicate softness of Chamois, resembling undressed kid, and produces a very pleasing ground for painting and embroidery. It can also be used in combination with plush to good effect, and as the cut edges do not fray it is very useful in making small fancy articles where a woven fabric would be difficult to finish neatly.

Felting, two yards wide, has a fine, cloth like surface, is used for Table Covers, Lambrequins, Piano Scarfs, Screens, Panels, Buggy Robes, Sofa Cushions, etc. To be had in all the leading shades.

Eiderdown is a wool material, with a very soft surface nap, upon which embroidery of any kind is very effective. Is used for infants' buggy robes. It comes in pink, blue and cream.

Linen Momie Canvas is used for Splashers, D'Oyleys, Towel Shams, Table and Sideboard Covers.

Bolting Cloth, a fine, gauze-like material, comes in cream, white and all the leading tints; used for Tidies.

Florentine Silk is a material of light texture. Comes plain and figured; is used for Tidies, Sash Curtains, Draping, etc.

India Silk is a soft, fine material, and comes in all the Oriental shades, and is used principally for Draperies, Scarfs, Tidies, Curtains, etc., and has a very rich effect.

Plush is one of the most popular materials used for embroidering upon; and for bordering and banding other materials, it is invaluable; also used extensively in making Flowers, and for Kensington Painting. Comes in all colors.

Canton Flannel comes in all art shades. It is a soft, downy fabric, in which the dyes are excellent, and it is much in demand for Drapery Lining.

Sateen is much used for art needle-work. It is a new silk material, with silk face.

Among the washing fabrics used in Art needle-work are Crash, Roller Toweling, Twilled Cotton, Duck, Sail Cloth, Linen Sheeting, Oatmeal Cloth, Butcher Linen, Scrim, Bunting, Cheese Cloth, Muslin and India Mull.

Crewel is two-ply worsted, with a loose twist; dyed in fast colors, in all the beautiful tints required for art Embroidery.

Filoselle, most commonly known as Floss, used in the most modern needle-work, is a pure silk, though without gloss finish.

Filo Floss is similar to Filoselle, but glossy in appearance, and twisted, so that it can be separated into any thickness.

Arrasene is a heavy, flat, chenille-like material, in silk, particularly suited for large, bold designs. This material is as popular as any material now in use, as its effect upon plush in embroidery cannot be equaled. It does not sink into the fabric when embroidering, and it gives the work when finished, a soft and rich appearance, adding greatly thereby to the effect of shading.

Ribbosene resembles in appearance a very narrow ribbon when crimped, and is used for large flowers. The appearance produced is very effective.

The fine Chenille is still used very extensively, and, besides, there are two larger sizes, becoming more popular every day, as the embroidery taste seems drifting into the appreciation of large flowers and more elaborate designs. The larger chenille is designated by 2 and the largest by 4.

Pearsall's Embroidery Silk is used extensively for etching and embroidery and comes in all shades.

Rope Silk is soft, loosely twisted, all silk, two-stranded thread, somewhat like embroidery silk, but much coarser, and of different finish, having less gloss, and is dyed in special colors with the permanent Eastern Dyes that will not fade in the light or in washing. The work is so easily done and fills in so rapidly that it can be used to advantage in large solid designs, by which good color effects are best obtained.

Cable Silk is a solid round silk thread of three strands, rather tightly twisted and very heavy, and is used chiefly for making fancy stitches of various kinds for filling in large spaces; the thickness and roundness of the thread giving a full, rich effect to every stitch.

Royal Society Embroidery Silk is a washable silk; comes in all shades, and is used for embroidering the Queen Anne and all fancy stitches.

Ecclesiastical Silk, is a soft twisted, all silk, two stranded thread, similar to Embroidery Silk but much coarser, of a bright lustrous finish; used for embroidering large designs, also for crocheting rings for fancy work.

Being in constant receipt of new materials in addition to the above, we will at any time answer inquiries or send samples free.

Roman Embroidery, a kind of cut out work, used in making Scarfs, Tidies, Tea Covers, Tray Cloths, Table Covers, etc , is as old as the Romans, yet it fills the demand for something new, because as modified in design and use, it possesses considerable novelty as well as beauty.

As shown in the cuts, the outlines of the designs are worked in buttonhole stitch, taking the stitches so that the purled edge is always toward the edge that is cut out. After the buttonholing is done, the lace or spider-web stitches are worked from point to point of the buttonholing, but not through the linen, as this is afterwards cut away close to the buttonholed edges.

Royal Society Twisted Embroidery Silk is used in the work.

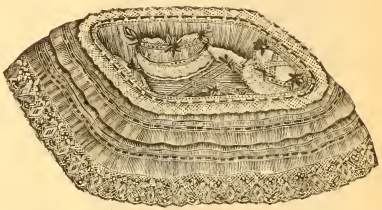
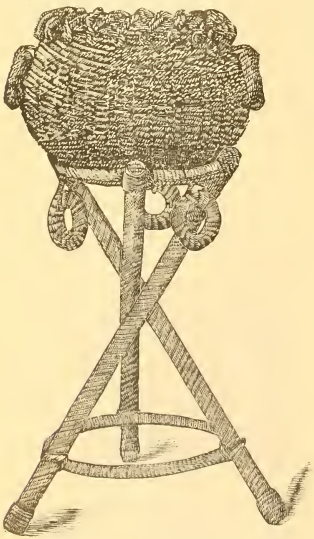
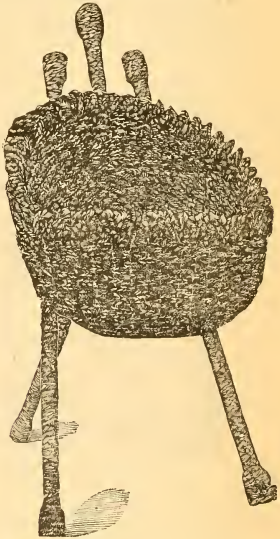
FANCY BASKETS.

No. 341. Infant's Basket on stand, handsomely trimmed in India Silk and Lace with ribbon bows. Price, $8.50, $10 and $12.00. Untrimmed, as per cut, $2.75, $3.75 and $4.50.



No. 342. Infant's Basket, trimmed with India Silk and flounce of Lace finished with bows of ribbons. Price, $5 50.





Small Decorative Baskets, untrimmed, 15c. to 50c. Large Decorative Baskets, untrimmed, $1.50 to $10.00, according to design. Fancy Baskets trimmed to order.

Only a few cuts of our baskets are shown, as in a picture it is not possible to give a satisfactory representation, from the fact that only one side can be seen, as the ribbons and draperies conceal the shape of the basket in the picture, while in looking at the basket itself the effect is quite different, and very beautiful.

They form a very useful adjunct to a parlor, making a beautiful ornament, and can be trimmed with fancy silks draped gracefully, Surah Silk, Florentine Silk, and India Silk being used extensively, or with handsome combinations of ribbons.

They are extensively used for Natural Flowers, Photograph Cases, Card Cases, Scrap and Waste Paper Baskets, etc., and make very elegant wedding or birthday presents.

We always make it our aim to send the latest and most choice goods when an order is left to our selection.

STAMPING.

We would particularly call the attention of our patrons to this department, as we consider, that with our superior facilities, it is the most complete of any in the United States. Our assortment of designs is the largest that can be found, and in addition, we have in our employ a designer, which affords us the superior advantage of being able to make to order any design that may suggest itself to our patrons. As our assortment is so extensive, it would almost fill a book the size of this volume were we to endeavor to give cuts of them all. The designs illustrated on pages 42 and 43 are some of the latest for Tidies, Scarfs, Lambrequins, Sofa Pillows, Etc.

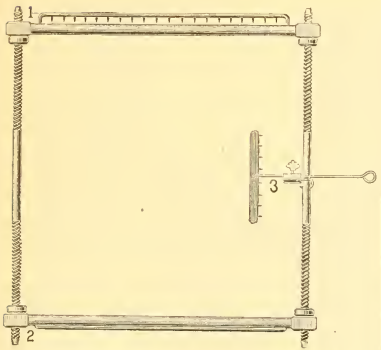
EMBROIDERY FRAMES.

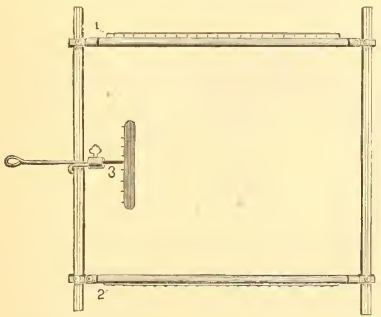


IDA FRAMES, 24 inch.....$1 50
IDA FRAMES, 27 inch..... 2 00

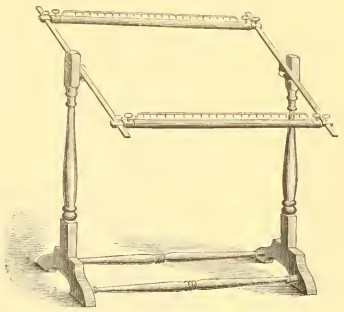
We would call attention to our PATENT EMBROIDERY FRAME, which, in using, you will find to possess superior advantages over any frame that is now in use; it overcomes the inconvenience of sewing on the material to be embroidered, as all that is necessary is to place the material used under the part marked No. 1, and by running the hand over the same it will be ready for work. No. 1 indicates the attachment when open, No. 2 when closed, and No. 3 is a side attachment, which is so arranged as to be used on any frame, the same being intended to get a proper tension from the sides.

The No. 3 attachment is separate, and would cost 50 cents a pair additional: although very convenient, it is not absolutely necessary.

Plain Screw Frames same as Ida Frame without No. 1 and 2 attachment, 24 inch, $1.00 each; 27 inch, $1.50 each.



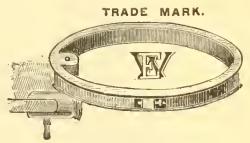
LOTTA FRAME, 24 inch, $3.50; 27 inch, $3.75.



LOTTA FRAME AND STAND, 27 inch, $6.50.

The Lotta frame possesses all the advantages of the Ida frame in regard to fastening on the work, also the combined superior advantage of being able to contain a piece of material either two inches or ten yards in length, as the cross poles revolve and at the same time slide up and down.

Embroidery frame on stand, similar to Ida frame, without attachments, $3.75.



PATENT EMBROIDERY HOOP.

This hoop can be fastened to a chair or table and turned in any position to suit the worker, or can be held in the hand. The extreme handiness of this Embroidery Hoop, combined with its practicability, and it being almost impossible to put it out of order, are advantages, which are sure to make it a universal favorite among the large and ever increasing number of patrons of the art of hand embroidery.

In calling special attention to this department, we can safely say that we have made it as complete as possible in all its branches, and feel perfectly satisfied that nowhere on the Pacific Coast can be found an assortment as perfect in every regard, and nowhere in the United States can be found a BETTER assortment. We always endeavor to carry in stock superior qualities, and with an aim to have our prices such as will compare favorably with any quotations given. Often lower prices are quoted, and under such circumstances if our patrons will take the trouble to investigate, by a comparison they will find that the article offered is INFERIOR in quality, and if not, it is certainly of LIGHTER WEIGHT than ours, which the advertiser endeavors to impose upon the inexperienced, as a person of experience generally understands a circumstance of this nature without further proofs being necessary.

As all our yarns are manufactured expressly for us, it gives us an opportunity of having such shades as cannot be found elsewhere. Some of our exclusive brands of wool are so favorably known, and are so popular, that efforts have been made to imitate them. Each skein will contain a ticket of our trade mark such as is found at the top of this introduction, known as the Sphinx. As we are continually in receipt of new kinds, and have also a number of different yarns, which, perhaps, our patrons do not know by the names, we will give in the following list, as near as we can, a description of them and the purposes for which they are used, AND WILL ALSO, AT ANY TIME, ON APPLICATION, SEND SAMPLES OF ALL YARNS WE HAVE IN STOCK.

If at any time parties ordering wools wish to learn any particular stitch in crochet work, we will be pleased to send a sample of the same. In sending in an application please describe, as near as possible, the style of stitch wanted.

Zephyr Worsteds.

SIZES OF ZEPHYR.

We have the most perfect assortment of shades that can be found in the United States, and keep only the best quality of imported Sphinx Berlin Zephyr, which we have put up, full 16 ounces to the pound, instead of 11 to 13 ounces to the pound as is customary with other dealers. The consumer will readily see the difference in working it up. 2, 4 and 8 fold, all colors, 2 oz. for 25c., or $2 per pound of 16 ounces, except black and white, which we sell 2 oz. for 25c., or $1.90 per pound of 16 ounces.

German Knitting Yarns.

Sphinx Dresden Prima Woole is a strong, four ply, wiry, elastic, even yarn, used for knitting ladies', gents' and children's hose, and for crocheting ladies' and children's shirts and skirts, and is unequaled in smoothness and durability; it comes in plain, striped and mixed colors, all warranted fast; full 16 oz. weight, divided into four hanks. Price $1.25 a pound, 35c. per hank.

Sphinx First Quality German Yarn is very similar to the Sphinx Dresden but not quite as fine in quality; it comes in almost all the same plain colors, and is used for the same purposes. 16 oz. weight, divided into four skeins. Price $1 per pound, 25c. per hank.

Extra Quality Sphinx Imported Germantown Yarn is a four ply wool, very much like four ply Sphinx Zephyr, and is used principally for the same purposes. It can be obtained in all colors, plain and variegated, full weight, 16 oz., divided into eight skeins. Price, for all colors, $2.00 a pound, 25c. per hank.

Sphinx Castor Wool is a soft, heavy wool, resembling eight fold Zephyr, and is rapidly taking the place of the same, as it works smoother and is more durable. It is used for rugs, afghans, carriage robes, slippers, and in fact for every purpose for which the eight fold Zephyr was formerly preferred. Price $2 a pound, or 25c. per hank, in all colors.

Sphinx Imported Hanover Saxony is of a fine, round, even twisted thread, used for knitting underwear and fine hose. It comes in 2, 3 and 4 threads, which regulates the size; it is to be had in all the leading colors, 16 oz. weight, the same as Sphinx Zephyr, 16 hanks to the pound. Price $2.25 a pound, or 15c. per hank.

Sphinx Newport Saxony is similar to Sphinx Imported Hanover Saxony. It comes in three ply only, and is one grade coarser than the imported Hanover; it is used for the same purposes, and as it does not shrink, is preferred for articles to be washed; 16 oz. weight, divided into sixteen hanks. Price $1.75 a pound, or 12½c. per hank.

Sphinx Extra Quality Spanish Yarn is a four thread silk finished yarn, similar to Sphinx Dresden, but ½ the thickness and harder twisted, used for crocheting and knitting shirts, skirts and fine underwear, all colors, plain and mixed, and warranted fast, 16 oz. weight, divided into eight hanks. Price $2.00 per pound, or 25c. per hank.

Sphinx Spanish Yarn is a four ply thread, silk finished yarn, a little heavier than the extra quality Spanish Yarn, and is used for the same purposes, 16 oz. weight, divided into eight hanks. Price $1 50 per pound or 20c. per hank.

OUR N. & L. BRAND OF RIBBONS IS UNAPPROACHABLE.

YARNS.

Vigogne or Merino Yarn is half cotton and half wool, principally used for knitting underwear, and warranted not to shrink; it comes in different sizes, from No. 8 to No. 20, eight hanks to the pound. Price $2.00 per pound, or 25c. per hank.

Sphinx Del Monte Wool is round and twisted, comes in all colors, used for crocheting shawls, capes and all kinds of head wear. Price 20c. a ball, $1.40 a box containing eight balls.

La Palme Wool is a round, soft, twisted wool, comes in all colors, used for crocheting shawls, fascinators, underwear, etc. Price 30c. a ball, $1.65 a box of six balls.

Sphinx Shetland Floss is a soft, fleecy, two ply wool, used for shawls, capes and head wear, 12 oz. weight, all colors, eight hanks to the pound. Price $1.50 a pound, or 20c. per hank.

Sphinx Shetland Wool is a very fine, wiry wool, same size as two fold Zephyr, used for shawls, head wear and knitting fine woolen lace, which is particularly adapted to trimming flannel garments; it comes in all colors, 12 oz. weight, eight hanks to the pound. Price $1.50 a pound. or 20c. per hank.

Pompadour is a French silk mixed wool for opera hoods and shawls, and for all fine knitting and crocheting, it comes in plain mixed and cashmere colors; large balls 40c., small balls, 20c. 3 for 50c., $1.25 per box containing eight balls.

Imported Sphinx Ice Wool, more generally known as Mohair, is of a fine, silky appearance, used for crocheting and knitting shawls and head wear; it comes double and single wound; large balls 20c. a ball, 3 for 50c. $1.90 a box.

Sphinx Fairy Zephyr is in thickness of thread about the same as two fold Zephyr, but being crimped, it has a soft, fleecy appearance when worked, and is used principally for shawls and headwear; 12 oz. weight, eight hanks to the pound, $1.35 a pound, 20c. per hank.

Angora Floss is made of pure Angora wool, and when worked up resembles very much the swan's down or finest fur; for making children's hoods there is nothing equal to it in appearance and durability. For opera capes and sacques there is nothing like it in white which produces the same rich effect, owing to its resemblance to ermine. Price 20c. a ball, $3.00 box of 16 balls.

Plain Sphinx Eiderdown is a heavy, soft wool, about four times the thickness of eight fold Zephyr, used mostly for children's buggy robes and ladies' head wear, and when worked up produces a rich fleecy appearance. Price 40c. per ball, $1.50 per box containing four balls.

Silk Sphinx Eiderdown is the same as the above with a silk thread twisted through. Price 45c. per ball, $1.75 per box containing four balls.

Sphinx Spiral Wool is a heavy, soft wool, similar to Sphinx Eiderdown, but harder twisted and used for the same purposes. Price 45c. per Ball, $1.75 per box containing four balls.

Tinsel is a brilliant thread in plain and mixed colors. When combined with wools in making shawls and head wear it produces a very beautiful effect, owing to its brilliancy. It is also used extensively for couching and embroidering on plush and pongee. Price 5c. per ball, 6 for 25c.

We would again kindly call your attention to the fact of our being in continual receipt of new yarns, some of which may arrive after the publication of this book, and if any known yarn should be wanted, and should not be found in the above list, by sending a sample or description we may be able to fill the order.

None of the above yarns are genuine unless each hank contains a ticket marked with "SPHINX TRADE MARK."

Sphinx Brand Knitting Silk.

As our Superior Knitting Silk has been closely imitated by unscrupulous manufacturers, who have placed on the market an inferior article made from Spun Silk, we have, therefore, put our trade mark upon every spool.

Our Superior Knitting Silks have a fac-simile of this label upon every spool, and will contain one-half ounce, full weight, of pure Silk thread.

Spun Silk is a very much inferior silk, and is dull, rough and shoddy, while our pure silk has a brilliancy and smoothness, and is extensively used for knitting underwear, hosiery, mittens, purses, satchels, etc.; comes in all colors. Price 35c. a ball, or $2.75 a box containing eight balls.

N. B.—Every spool warranted smooth and even thread, and if not satisfactory it can be returned, and money will be refunded if so desired.

EUREKA PURSE SILK. Warranted pure silk; hard twisted; used for knitting and crocheting purses. It comes in all colors. Price 50c. a spool.

WOOLEN GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Hand Knitted and Crocheted Goods.

As we are manufacturing all the following articles exclusively for our own trade, we feel safe in saying that ours is the only house where they can be obtained, and would also state that we have in our employ some of the most experienced hands in Knitting and Crocheting that can be found anywhere in the world, which gives us an opportunity of being able to make anything in that line that might suggest itself to our patrons; that is, if it can be made at all.

As our assortment is so extensive we will not be able to enumerate them all, but will give description and prices sufficient to give our patrons a general idea.

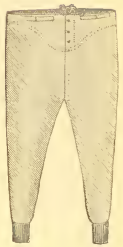
Misses' Combination Suit.



Boys' Drawers.

Boys' Natural Wool Shirt.

Children's Shirts

Children's Pantalets

The Health Underwear is made by a special process, by which the coarser fibers of camel's hair and the short fibers of wool are removed, leaving only the long and fine fibers, thus giving the material great strength and durability as well as softness.

These goods protect the body against drafts and sudden changes of temperature, and are an important protection against colds, catarrh, bronchitis, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, malaria, and many other forms of disease.

They cannot crock, fade or poison the skin as they are made from camel's hair and pure wool, of their natural color, free from dyes or other impurities.

HOSIERY DEPARTMENT.

FAST BLACK HOSIERY. COLOR GUARANTEED.

As there is a continual change in the styles of hosiery, and we make it our special object to have the latest, we do not consider it judicious to give a descriptive list, as we are liable to be out of a style when ordered, having replaced it by some new design. We have therefore confined our list to such as we consider staple and have constantly on hand.

THE PROPER TREATMENT FOR PUTTING ON GLOVES

First. Before trying on, dry the hands thoroughly and, if possible, rub them over with pulverized French chalk.

Second. Stretch and open the fingers of the Gloves gently and sprinkle a little of the powder inside.

Third. Start the Glove evenly over the fingers, rubbing downwards on front and back with the other hand until the fingers are thoroughly down, then put on the thumb, in the same careful way, avoid pressing the gloves between the fingers. Left handed people should put on the left hand first, and vice-versa.

Fourth. In taking a Glove off, turn the top over the hand and draw it off inside out, thereby preserving the shape.

These rules are applicable to all kinds of gloves.

EMBROIDERY DEPARTMENT.

We are offering this season a larger and better assorted stock of fine embroideries than ever before. We desire to call particular attention to our exclusive styles in Nainsook, Cambric and Swiss, consisting of Edgings of all widths (in sets), with Insertings to match.

As our assortment is too extensive to be catalogued or illustrated, and as novelties are arriving and added all the time, in ordering please state the purpose you wish them for, and about the price you should like to pay, thus enabling us to send a variety of samples to select from; also please state when ordering if the nearest will answer, or if it should be the exact match, as we are liable at any time to be out of a pattern, and it would thereby avoid delay.
